

Quick bio – Jeff Smith

Having searched for a nice, quiet place to wind down after living for the past 35+ years in the greater Seattle area, my wife, Linda Nordstrom and I bought our home on Berry Way, next to Aiston Creek and moved to Scenic Estates in July, 2015.

I was a principle in SmithWalker Design – a marketing services firm engaged in communication design (graphic design, copy writing, commercial photography, videography) primarily for industrial marketers over the past 32 years. The firm was sold in 2015, and I agreed to spend 2 years transitioning the management. Monday through Thursday usually finds me in the Seattle area tending to the business. January 2018 will happily mark the end of that obligation, and I will join my wife in full-time residence here on Lummi Island. My wife Linda spent 26 years as director of sales support for a packaging company in the Seattle area, and currently works with Anderson Paper and Packaging in Ferndale.

Linda is an accomplished quilter, while I prefer to spend as much of my free time as possible turning wood into bowls, boxes and other utilitarian objects.

We both look forward to becoming better acquainted and more involved with our new neighborhood.
